- ▶ Age-appropriate curriculum materials assure that your children learn everything they need to know at each grade level
- ▶ Multimedia CD-ROMs add fun and excitement to learning
- ▶ Print materials and videos support families who do not have easy access to computers

Exciting things happen when parents bring education into the home. When you make a serious commitment to be active in your children’s education, you’re teaching them how to live successfully, not just how to make a living.

In 1975 at the University of Pennsylvania, I built an interactive teaching machine on a mainframe computer—the first step of my dream to “develop technology that would affordably bring the best teacher of every subject to every student.”

Now for the first time you can get from one source all the tools you need to help your children learn, whether they attend public school, private school, or are homeschooled. With these age-appropriate products, you can feel assured that your children are learning everything they need to know at each grade level.

Think of this catalog as a tour through the world’s best library, one in which you can buy all the educational materials you’ll need for a lifetime. We’ve arranged the catalog by subject areas: fine arts, language arts, math, religious studies, science, social studies, early learning, electives, and study hall.

We’ve included the best deals on educational books, CD-ROMs, videos, and curriculum materials. It’s the most cost-effective way to get educational materials from names you know and trust, including A&E Home Video, Creative Wonders, The History Channel, Instructional Fair, Kaplan Interactive, The Learning Company, Merriam-Webster, MySoftware, Prentice Hall, and Zane Interactive Publishing, developer of the popular PowerCD® software.

What an opportunity to invest in your children’s future!

Bless you for all you do to ensure your children’s success.

Sincerely,

Leonardo da Vinci: Renaissance Master

(50 Minutes)

Leonardo da Vinci's revolutionary techniques transformed art, but he never achieved the fame enjoyed by his younger rival Michelangelo. This definitive video traces Leonardo's life from his Tuscan boyhood to his death, in relative obscurity, in France. Extensive use of da Vinci's journals, notes, and sketches provide valuable insight into the mind of a genius who anticipated many of the advances of modern science. Interviews with biographers and art historians provide insight into his life and legacy.

Michelangelo: Artist and Man

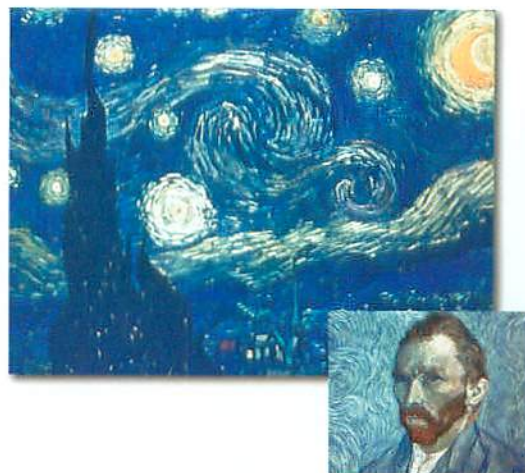

(50 Minutes)

Creator of unparalleled works of art painted on canvas and plaster, carved in marble, and built from stone, Michelangelo created a legacy of art treasured by the world: the ceiling of the Sistine Chapel, the heroic marble sculpture of David, and the central plan for Saint Peter's Cathedral in Rome. Was he the tortured and lonely man who suffered agonies in pursuit of his art, as he is often portrayed? Art historians, museum curators, and Renaissance experts help dispel the mysteries surrounding the man whose glorious works inspire us to this day.

Vincent Van Gogh

(50 Minutes)

He created some of the most treasured paintings in history. In his own lifetime however, he was shunned by the artistic community and his works were virtually ignored. Explore his remarkable life, including his complicated relationships with women and his long partnership with his brother Theo. Take an up-close look at his greatest masterpieces, and examine their importance and influence with world-famous scholars. Cliff Edwards, author of Van Gogh & God, offers insight into the powerful obsessions that tormented him, and how his struggles as an artist affected his personal life.
